► Guided cavern tours 2021 ◀

Guided cavern dives in the local cenotes are available for all certified divers to be safely enjoyed. Cenotes are freshwater pools in the jungle that connect to the vast underground cave systems. These pools are the entry way to underwater marvels with visibility well in excess of 45 meters/150 feet, stalactites and stalagmites of every shape and size, and light zones that will dazzle your eyes.

Cavern dives are guided safely by our professional guides within the light zone and guided cavern standards accepted worldwide. Our cavern guides carry minimum certifications of full cave diver and dive master by a recognized training agency. Often they are cavern or cave diving instructors with hundreds or thousands of dives in the local environment. Maximum allowed ratio of divers to guide is four to one.

Our typical day of guided cavern diving includes two single tank dives in two different cenotes.

Prices for guided cavern diving

Cavern dives per day	Private tour for 1 diver	2 or more divers
2	US$230	US$175 per person
3	US$280	US$225 per person

Deposit is required upon booking. The fee includes:

- Tanks with air or nitrox 32%
- Weights
- Dive light
- Site entrance fees*
- Light lunch and drinks
- Transport from the dive shop to and from the dive sites

Dive equipment is not included.

Rental gear packages are available for US$25 per person or for US$10 per piece of gear needed.

Which Cenotes Can I Visit?

Taj Mahal, Ponderosa, Chac Mool, Kukulcan, Manati, Gran Cenote, Dos Ojos, Carwash, Angelita, The Pit, Temple of Doom, and Chikin Ha.

Profession Video and Photography Services

Professional video and photo services are available so you can take part of the beauty of the cenotes home with you.
